services would no longer be required in the privatization effort for the television network. She explained that due to budgetary constraints in Kazakhstan, funding was not available to continue the effort at that time.

[REDACTED] described [REDACTED] as being very aggressive, tough and difficult to deal with. However, [REDACTED] involvement with [REDACTED] was limited to an occasional meeting in New York or in Kazakhstan. [REDACTED] dealt mainly with THOMAS BOWERS, who was [REDACTED] lawyer at MERCATOR. He described BOWERS as a nice guy but with a peripatetic personality. BOWERS was constantly running around and traveling at the beck and call of [REDACTED]. Several months after [REDACTED] involvement with Kazakhstan was terminated in February of 1999 he received a telephone call from BOWERS. BOWERS told [REDACTED] that he was no longer working for MERCATOR but did not describe the circumstances of his departure. It appeared to [REDACTED] that BOWERS' departure was abrupt. He has not spoken to either BOWERS or [REDACTED] since the middle of 1999.

[redacted] used to work for [redacted] GLENN OZTEMEL SR., at SATRA CORPORATION, in the 1970s. OZTEMEL SR., now deceased, owned the Company, which specialized in importing and export goods primarily from Russia. [redacted] worked as a trader for SATRA for approximately five years.

b6
b7C

[redacted] recalled [redacted] as being intelligent, ambitious and full of energy. [redacted] was eventually let go by OZTEMEL SR., who grew tired of [redacted] overly ambitious tendencies. [redacted] had ideas about the direction of SATRA's business that conflicted with OZTEMEL SR. [redacted] had tried to convert other SATRA employees to his way of thinking, which didn't sit well with OZTEMEL SR. They did not part on the best of terms, and [redacted] [redacted] had no further contact with [redacted] since the late 1970s.

b6

[redacted] was aware that [redacted] was under investigation based on recent media reports. He had never heard of [redacted] company, THE MERCATOR CORPORATION, until reading about it in the newspaper. [redacted] did not recognize the name THOMAS BOWERS, but promised to provide a list of names to the interviewing agents of possible business associates of [redacted]

[redacted] INTERNATIONAL MEDIA RESOURCES INC., 235 East 45th Street, 2nd floor, New York, NY, telephone number [redacted] was interviewed at his place of employment. After being advised of the identity of the interviewing agents and the nature of the interview, [redacted] provided the following information:

b7C

In 1996, INTERNATIONAL MEDIA RESOURCES INC. was engaged to perform work for the government of Kazakhstan. INTERNATIONAL MEDIA RESOURCES INC. was hired by the MERCATOR CORPORATION in New York to assist in the privatization of the state run television network in Kazakhstan. [redacted] met [redacted] during a golf outing. [redacted] asked [redacted] if he knew anyone who had performed work or who was in the television business. The friend recommended [redacted] [redacted] contacted [redacted] and engaged [redacted] and his company to assist in the privatization of the state run television network in Kazakhstan.

b7C

[redacted] developed a business plan and traveled to Kazakhstan on several occasions between 1996 and 1998. INTERNATIONAL MEDIA RESOURCES provided the Kazakhstan government with television programming for the privatization effort. INTERNATIONAL MEDIA RESOURCES billed MERCATOR directly on a monthly basis for their fees, which averaged $12,000 per month. MERCATOR paid INTERNATIONAL MEDIA RESOURCES by check.

b6
